

Operation Right Track is a positive and forward-thinking community-initiated movement to educate and garner awareness regarding the prevalence of gangs, weapons, graffiti, domestic violence and drugs in Corpus Christi and Nueces County. It is also an effort to establish support for and trust in law enforcement and to encourage citizens to engage in acts of kindness.

Operation Right Track was conceived by members of the League of United Latin American Citizens, Council #4444, in response to a meeting initiated by Chief Troy Riggs of the Corpus Christi Police Department for community involvement in making Corpus Christi a safer place to live.

LULAC, Council #4444, along with the Sheriff's Office, partnered with CCPD to develop the plan even more. In fact, it was through these conversations that CCPD Commander J.V. Garcia came up with the name Operation Right Track. The Corpus Christi American Federation of Teachers and the Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse-Coastal Bend were the next organizations to pledge their wholehearted support. LULAC #4444 has committed financial resources and numerous volunteer hours to ensure the success of this program.

Operation Right Track is not about activities per se, but about the human spirit. All of us want to live our lives free of fear and we want to live in a city that embraces and respects individuality. We need each other to be successful. Operation Right Track is about dignity, respect and love. So do right by your fellow humans and get on the right track. We'll be posting more ideas on our facebook page regarding how you can help.
